ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 14, The follow-ing extracts are from a letter from Clara Barton to Mrs. Jane Marsh Parker, of this city: "About nurses—for the present the sickness of Johnstown exists in the news-papers only. I do not know but I ought to say this more openly than I do. The reporters have more to do with the sickness here than the doctors or other people. There are for the present nurses sufficient. House to house visitation among the poor, learning their access and supplying them properly is the great want for relief work at this moment. We have some twenty people doing this. Sickness may come later, but it is
